In the registry, it is working fine. But it is not saving the settings. Any ideas? Here is the code: Set objShell = CreateObject("Shell.Application") objShell.ShellExecute "url to the url", "", "", "runas", 1 objShell.WaitForReady() GetTempPath = objShell.Namespace(Registry.CurrentUser).OpenSubKey(".\Temp").GetSubKeyNames() For x = 0 to ubound(GetTempPath) Set Mydir = CreateObject("WScript.Shell") Mydir.Run "C:" & GetTempPath(x) & "" Set Mydir = Nothing Next 'Get the value of the temp folder Do Until objShell.Namespace(Registry.CurrentUser).OpenSubKey(".\Temp").Item("TEMP").subkeys.items.count = 0

EZmix 2 Full Keygen

Video References Category:Audio mixing software Can programmers finally code for happy users? - ori ===== orijng Article is so badly written. For one thing, the author needs to proofread. Most of the article was complaining about the fact that programmers don't think about "happy users" enough. But any user can be "happy" too. For example, if I'm a user of a car that has a leak in a gas tank, I'm not going to be happy at the rate it's leaking out or the fact that it's leaking out. But I'm perfectly ok with the situation. Perhaps happy people come from all different walks of life, so it's not "some developers" who don't think about "happy users". ----- jamesk2 What? What are you talking about. Such a stupid headline. And the fact that the main point is wrong and/or stupid is completely ignored in this story/article. ----- anamax Do happy users think less about programming? Q: Pickling exception: can not pickle object " I'm passing two objects in the same class, and the second one is supposed to modify the first object, but when I tried to pass the instance of the class to the serializer using "pickle", it always end up with this error: : Memory Error objects.> I don't know how to fix it, I'm a beginner in Python programming class Database: def __init__(self, dbo): self.dbo = dbo def insert_table_name(self, key): entry_into_dbo = self.dbo[key] self.dbo.insert(entry_into_dbo) def update_table_name(self, key, entry): entry_into_dbo = self. 3da54e8ca3
