----- SRecorder is a user-friendly and reliable software solution designed specifically as a screen capturing tool, that supports the recording of sounds through audio input devices, such as microphones. Once installed, the program runs minimized in the notification area, enabling you to access it whenever you need to capture our screen for a demonstration video, or other purposes. Additionally, from the system tray menu, you can also activate or deactivate the display of a recording button on the right side of your screen. The application is fairly simple to work with, all you need to do in order to start the capture process is to press Srecorder's icon in the notification area or the button on the side of your desktop. Subsequently, you can manually select the region on your screen that you target, the utility displaying the dimension of the window in pixels. This way, if you want, you can stick to a specific size. If you press the record button by accident and trigger the region selection process, you can press the 'ESC' key on your computer keyboard, and it will exit. Moreover, Srecorder allows you to capture sound during your screen recordings, provided that you have a compatible input device. You can enable or disable this feature right before starting the recording. This ability can prove quite handy if you want to make demonstration videos with explanatory comments, so that the people watching it can better understand what you are doing. When you have finished recording your video, you can save it to your computer. Additionally, you can share the created movie with friends on several social media websites. To summarize, Srecorder is a useful and easy to use screen capturing application that can prove handy in helping you create tutorials or demo videos, with very little effort.
