You are Watching Greys Anatomy Season 10, This is .After a quiet start, March's print ad for Steven Spielberg's movie "Lincoln" grew by 1.1 percent from February, according to Point of View's March 2017 report. It's the fourth consecutive month of year-over-year growth. 1.1 percent growth for the month of March, 2016, as compared to the same period in 2015. March is the second smallest month for the overall ad market in 2016, after January. The number of books, magazines, and newspapers going to market has yet to peak, but shipments are well below last year's record high. "Ads for the upcoming Independence Day remain the No. 1 holiday title for the past two weeks, but that spot is being challenged by two new books," said Andrew Abbruzzese, co-founder of Point of View. "The most promising new title is a reissue of William Shakespeare's epic tragedy 'Hamlet.'" Abbruzzese also pointed to the fact that March was the first month of February weather and the March edition of Time Magazine was on newsstands that same week in December (March is the magazine's spring issue). "[It] was the only book on newsstands that day, meaning there's less competition than there might have been," he said. "The February edition of Time came out on March 1." According to Abbruzzese, if you're looking for a good seasonal pick for the upcoming holiday season, you're looking in the wrong place. "I wouldn't go for a movie as long as I'm looking for the holiday bestseller," he said. "In fact, that's exactly why Time does this: to test what makes a bestseller. When they reissue a story, they're looking at what made the story a big seller. In this case, it'

Serious concerns over safety of NHS patients in the face of a winter crisis have been raised by the Alliance of Medical Directors after a GP leader said hospitals were "at breaking point" and "beyond capacity". MPs said the number of patients being admitted with flu had increased more than 60 per cent in the past week. Richard Barker, medical director of Barts Health NHS Trust, told BBC News there were 40 trusts running at "full capacity" and others were "significantly above". His remarks came as the government promised to declare a flu pandemic if the number of infections in the UK is higher than the seasonal norm. David Hartnell, director of strategic informatics at the Alliance, said: "We are at the end of winter, it's possible that we may have hit the peak and one of the hazards is that we can end up with the numbers of admissions that some trusts are currently reporting. " "We do have a concern in that the numbers of patients e79caf774b
