CWB Ambassador Program review (exam, registration & application) - CENILTA, 2014. The present invention relates to a light-emitting device and method of forming same, and more particularly, to a light emitting device formed to a predetermined shape. The light emitting device has a light-emitting element and a sealing material that surrounds the light-emitting element. FIG. 1 illustrates a light-emitting device 100 of the prior art. The light-emitting device 100 includes a light-emitting element 110, a housing 120 surrounding the light-emitting element 110, and a sealing material 140, which bonds the light-emitting element 110 and the housing 120. The housing 120 is formed by bending the housing material. Thus, the light-emitting element 110 cannot be formed to a predetermined shape without restraining its deformation. Moreover, because the housing 120 is made by being bent, an external strain is applied to the light-emitting element 110 as indicated by the arrows A and B. This strain may cause a defect in the light-emitting element 110 or other problems such as the disconnection of an external wire (not shown in the drawing). - 2 * n * * 2 + n * * 2 - n + 0 * n .
